Overall Evaluation Summary

Qualitative Analysis - Positive

- You effectively highlighted the problem of seniors facing loneliness and boredom, and presented a potential solution through The Smiling Souls
- You demonstrated a clear passion for the mission and a strong understanding of the target audience, which is essential for creating a successful platform
- You delivered a well-structured presentation, starting with a hook to grab the audience's attention and ending with a call to action, which shows your ability to think strategically

Qualitative Analysis - Areas of Improvement

- You could improve by providing more specific examples of how The Smiling Souls will address the issues faced by seniors, such as detailed descriptions of the daily interactive sessions and virtual events

- You could have given more emphasis on the unique selling points of The Smiling Souls, such as what sets it apart from other similar platforms, to make it more compelling to investors
- You could have provided more concrete data and statistics to support your claims, such as the size of the senior market and the potential for growth, to make your pitch more convincing
- You could have elaborated more on your personal story and how it relates to the mission of The Smiling Souls, to create a stronger emotional connection with the audience
- You could have concluded with a clearer call to action, such as what specific support or investment you are seeking, to leave a lasting impression on the audience

Detailed Evaluation Metrics

No.	Items to look out for	5 point Scale	Remarks / Feedback
1.	Did the speaker speak with confidence? • Posture • Smile • Eye Contact • Energetic Start	3	Satisfactory Satisfactory Good Poor
2.	Did the speaker vary their tone, speed, volume?	3	You maintained a good tone, however, your speed of delivery was somewhat rapid, and a few words were pronounced very quickly, which made it slightly difficult to follow at times.
3.	Did they use any gestures with their hands or body while speaking?	3	You used some gestures with your hands and body while speaking, but your posture could have been more upright and confident, and your energetic start was not particularly strong.
4.	Did they have expressions on their faces?	3	You had some expressions on your face, including a occasional smile, which was a positive aspect of your presentation.
5.	Who are you and what are your skills, expertise, personality traits ?	3	You were able to introduce yourself, your skills, and your personality traits to some extent, but could have delved deeper into your personal strengths and qualifications.
6.	Why are you the best person to fit this role?	4	You performed well in conveying your passion for the topic, which makes you a strong fit for this role, as you clearly care about the issue of senior loneliness and have a personal connection to it.
7.	How are you different from others?	4	You are different from others in that you have a unique blend of business, technology, and community-building skills, which sets you apart as a strong candidate.
8.	What value do you bring to the role?	4	You bring a lot of value to the role, including your ability to create a scalable, human-centered tech solution, your strong foundation in business and technology, and your compassion and empathy for seniors.

9.	Did the speech have a structure of Opening, Body and Conclusion?	4	Your speech had a clear structure, starting with an opening that grabbed the listener's attention, a body that provided more information, and a conclusion that summarized your main points and left a lasting impression.
10.	How was the quality of research for the topic? Did the student's speech demonstrate a good depth? Did they cite the sources of research properly?	3	The quality of research for the topic was good, and you demonstrated a decent depth of knowledge, but you could have cited more specific sources or statistics to support your claims and add more credibility to your presentation.
11.	How creatively did the student present the video?	3	You presented the video in a fairly creative way, using a mix of engaging visuals and persuasive language to make your points, but there were some moments where the presentation felt a bit rushed or disjointed.
12.	How convinced were you with the overall speech on the topic? Was it persuasive? Will you give them the job/opportunity?	3	I was moderately convinced by your overall speech, and while you made some persuasive points, there were moments where your delivery felt a bit awkward or unpolished, so I would need to see more of your skills and qualifications before making a decision about giving you the job or opportunity.
