Influence Quotient: 72/100

Overall Evaluation Summary

Qualitative Analysis - Positive

- You've introduced yourself well and made clear your aim to work at Google.
- You showcased your technical knowledge by discussing your projects on LLM, CNN, and PCI shift.
- You showed a personal side by sharing your hobbies, which makes you more relatable.

Qualitative Analysis - Areas of Improvement

- You should avoid answering questions with a question. Instead, answer clearly and then ask your question separately.
- You could be more professional by avoiding unnecessary informal elements like information about your love for sweets.

- You can enhance your responses by giving more context or examples, such as delving into how your experience with certain projects has prepared you for this role.
- You could work on organizing your thoughts more efficiently before giving your answers, as some responses were not directly related to the questions.
- There was also no mention of past work experience or tangible achievements which could strengthen your candidacy, do try to include them next time.
