Influence Quotient: 58/100

Overall Evaluation Summary

Qualitative Analysis - Positive

- You have clearly stated the aim at the start of your speech, this allows the audience to anticipate what kind of information they will receive.
- Your explanations are simple and easy to understand , helping listeners to take in the information smoothly.
- You understand the need for user feedback and feel comfortable encouraging it, which is critical for user acceptance and to foster a sense of community.

Qualitative Analysis - Areas of Improvement

- You have used 'umm' and 'yeah' multiple times. Try eliminating these fillers to make your speech more professional.

- You repeat phrases like 'we'll arrange a demo' unnecessarily. Repeating a point unnecessarily can make listeners lose interest.
- There's room for providing more specifics about the tool such as its unique features or how it differentiates from other tools in the market.
- Your statement 'I guess that would be good' lacks confidence. Replace tentative language with more assertive statements.
- The timeline for the testing activities is vague. Providing clearer time frames can help listeners understand when they should anticipate important milestones.

Detailed Evaluation Metrics

No.	Items to look out for	5 point Scale	Remarks / Feedback
1.	Did the speaker speak with confidence? • Posture • Smile • Eye Contact • Energetic Start	4	Satisfactory Satisfactory Good Poor
2.	Did the speaker vary their tone, speed, volume?	3	You had a good tone to your delivery and your volume was adequate. However, your speaking speed was quite rapid. Maintaining a steadier pace would offer your audience more time to absorb the information.
3.	Did they use any gestures with their hands or body while speaking?	3	Yes, your eye contact demonstrated engagement, though your energy at the start lacked enthusiasm and your posture could be improved.
4.	Did they have expressions on their faces?	3	Your expressions were visible, shown through your smiles, though slightly more energy and positivity could enhance the experience.
5.	Who are you and what are your skills, expertise, personality traits ?	1	No, this video focuses more on introducing a new tool rather than providing details about your skills or personality traits.
6.	Why are you the best person to fit this role?	1	Based on the available data, it isn't clear about the fit for a specific role.
7.	How are you different from others?	1	Without more details, it's difficult to comment on how you are different from others.
8.	What value do you bring to the role?	1	Your value that you bring to the role is unclear based on the current video.
9.	Did the speech have a structure of Opening, Body and Conclusion?	4	Yes, the speech was clearly structured, progressing from introduction to body and finishing with a conclusion.
10.	How was the quality of research for the topic? Did the student's speech demonstrate a good depth? Did they cite the sources of research properly?	2	The depth of research wasn't showcased in the given data. Mention of sources would have strengthened the argument.

11.	How creatively did the student present the video?	3	Creativity in the presentation of the video is average; a bit more innovative approach could have been taken to enhance the effect.
12.	How convinced were you with the overall speech on the topic? Was it persuasive? Will you give them the job/opportunity?	3	The speech was convincing to some extent if the topic was the introduction of a learning tool. Whether or not to grant an opportunity would require more information about the specific role or post.
