Influence Quotient: 65/100

Overall Evaluation Summary

Qualitative Analysis - Positive

- You have clearly communicated your academic background and current studies, which adds credibility to your application for the Applied AI Scientist role.
- You have showcased relevant projects, such as work on LLM privacy protection, which aligns with the position you are applying for.
- You demonstrated enthusiasm and personal interests, sharing a bit about your hobbies and preferences, which provides a more well-rounded picture of yourself.

Qualitative Analysis - Areas of Improvement

- You could enhance your self-description by providing more detail about your skills and experiences that directly relate to the role you are applying for.
- You should try to connect your strengths more directly to the job role, as your current mention of working on large language models is not clearly tied to any specific achievements or skills.
- Consider discussing a professional weakness and how you are working to overcome it, rather than focusing on a personal preference like sweets.
- Your question about Google's MR headset is relevant but could be improved by specifically connecting it to your interest or expertise in AI or product development.
- Try to provide a conclusion or summary of your qualifications and ambitions at the end to leave a strong impression.

Detailed Evaluation Metrics

No.	Items to look out for	5 point Scale	Remarks / Feedback
1.	Did the speaker speak with confidence? • Posture • Smile • Eye Contact • Energetic Start	3	Satisfactory Satisfactory Good Poor
2.	Did the speaker vary their tone, speed, volume while delivering the speech/presentation?	3	The tone and volume were steady, maintaining a good pace overall, though it could have been more varied to enhance engagement.
3.	Did they use any gestures with their hands or body while speaking?	2	You didn't seem to utilize visible gestures, as the focus was more on delivering the content verbally rather than incorporating physical expressions.
4.	Did they have expressions on their faces?	3	The facial expressions were moderate, with acceptable posture, satisfactory eye contact, and an occasional smile, but lacking in initial enthusiasm.
5.	Did the speech have a structure of Opening, Body and Conclusion?	3	Your speech followed a basic structure with an introduction about yourself and your goals, a body discussing your skills and projects, but the conclusion was somewhat abrupt without a clear closing statement.
6.	Did the speaker keep the presentation engaging by adding relevant examples, anecdotes and data to back their content?	4	Your presentation included specific examples of projects, which helped relate your experience to the desired role and added depth to the content.
7.	Was the overall "Objective" of the speech delivered clearly?	3	The objective of conveying your interest in Google and showcasing your qualifications for the Applied AI Scientist role was delivered clearly, though it could have used a stronger closing to emphasize your passion and fit.
8.	Was the content of the presentation/speech to the point, or did it include unnecessary details that may have distracted or confused the audience?	3	The content was mostly relevant and focused, although simple inclusions, like hobbies unrelated to AI, slightly diluted the primary message.

9.	Was the content of the presentation/speech relevant to the objective of the presentation?	4	The content was largely relevant, centering around your education, projects, and aspirations which aligned with your application for the stated position.
10.	Was the content of the presentation/speech clear and easy to understand?	4	The speech content was generally clear and simple to understand, making it concise and accessible.
11.	Did the speaker demonstrate credibility? Will you trust the speaker?	3	You demonstrated credibility with relevant academic and project experiences, but incorporating more specific achievements could have strengthened trust.
12.	Did the speaker explain how the speech or topic of the presentation would benefit the audience and what they could gain from it?	2	The presentation lacked explicit mentions of how your skills would benefit the organization or the audience, which could have added persuasive power.
13.	Did the speaker make an emotional connection with the audience ?	2	There wasn't a strong emotional connection established with the audience; more personal stories or enthusiasm might have enhanced this aspect.
14.	Overall, were you convinced/ persuaded with the speaker's view on the topic?	3	While the presentation was informative regarding your background and aspirations, the persuasion could have been heightened with more emphasis on aligning your goals with the company's vision.
